A Something in a Summer's Day

By Emily Dickinson (1830 -1886)

A something in a summer's Day
As slow her flambeaux burn away
Which solemnizes me.

A something in a summer's noon --
A depth — an Azure — a perfume -- Transcending ecstasy.

And still within a summer's night
A something so transporting bright
I clap my hands to see --

Then veil my too inspecting face
Lest such a subtle — shimmering grace
Flutter too far for me --

The wizard fingers never rest --
The purple brook within the breast
Still chafes it narrow bed --

Still rears the East her amber Flag -- Guides still the sun along the Crag
His Caravan of Red --

So looking on — the night — the morn
Conclude the wonder gay --
And I meet, coming thro' the dews
Another summer's Day!

*...and you shall be like a watered garden, like a spring of water,
whose waters never fail
- Isaiah 58:11*
